This includes mobile and home phone numbers and addresses or your fellow staff.

Discipline & Warnings

Warning and disciplinary processes typically follow a three (3) part process, depending on the severity of staff performance/ breach.

1. A verbal warning constitutes a 'first warning';
2. A written warning constitutes a 'second warning', or 'final warning' for more serious breaches;
3. Termination of employment. This is always the last resort, however, may be instant for very serious breaches, including infringements of the law.

A warning is not a form of 'punishment', but rather a process whereby a staff's performance is examined in the light of the workplace standards expected by DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd. Warnings can be issued for staff breaches of conduct, job productivity and performance, punctuality, attendance and failure to follow directions.

A formal letter (written or second warning), will detail issues and will normally follow verbal counselling. However, this is dependent on the severity of the behaviour/breach. A formal letter may be a 'first and final' notice. The period of warning is dependent upon the nature of the issue and the circumstances surrounding it.

Termination is the last resort.

Staff should be aware of this disciplinary process, which is followed in all instances when breaches of policies, procedures or conduct occur, or when a satisfactory work performance cannot be improved and maintained.

DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd expects all staff to follow a smart business dress standard. Staff are expected to present neat, clean, professional appearance always.

Clients successfully completing a course/program, which forms part of a qualification, will receive a Statement of Attainment for those units of competency included in the assessment process.

Competency-Based Training and Assessment

Qualifications are comprised of Units of Competency, which have been determined by the Industry Skills Councils (ISCs) in consultation with industry, categorised into National Competency Standards and produced in Training Packages for a specific industry sector.

Training Packages provide a framework for training and assessment and specify what competencies staff at a level within an industry should be reasonably expected to achieve.

Successful completion of training and assessment leads to the issue of a Qualification or Statement of Attainment for all clients who achieve a 'COMPETENT' outcome.

Training Resources

DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd ensures that it has the training resources available when delivering and assessing training, to meet the requirements of the nationally endorsed Training Packages and Units of Competency within.

DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd has developed manuals /resources required for each training program. These manuals use a consistent format and include;

- Trainer Resources (Session Plans, Visual Presentations);
- Assessment Resources and tools (including RPL);
- Participant Resources; and

The use of these Training Resources will provide DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd with a consistent approach in delivering quality of training and assessment services.

Assessment

Assessment is defined (in the SRTOS 2015) as:

To achieve a 'COMPETENT' outcome client must satisfactorily complete all the requirements of the relevant Unit of Competency.

Principles of Assessment

Assessments will be conducted in accordance with the following principles of assessment.

Valid	Any assessment decision of the RTO is justified, based on the evidence of the performance of the individual learner. Validity requires: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assessment against the unit/s of competency and the associated assessment requirement covers the broad range of skills and knowledge that are essential to competent performance; • Assessment of knowledge and skills is integrated with their practical application; • Assessment to be based on evidence that demonstrates that a learner could demonstrate these skills and knowledge in other similar situations; and • The judgement of competence is based on evidence of learner performance that is aligned to the unit/s of competency and associated assessments requirements.
Reliable	Evidence presented for assessment is consistently interpreted and assessment results are comparable irrespective of the assessor conducting the assessment.
Flexible	Assessment is flexible to the individual learner by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reflecting the learner’s needs; • Assessing competencies held by the Learner no matter how or where they have been acquired; and • Drawing from a range of assessment methods and using those that are appropriate to the context, the unit of competency and associated assessment requirements, and the individual.
Fair	The individual learner’s needs are considered in the assessment process. Where appropriate reasonable adjustments are applied by the RTO to consider the individual learner’s needs. The RTO informs the learner about the assessment process and provides the learner with the opportunity to challenge the result of the assessment and be reassessed if necessary

Equal Opportunity

At DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd we are committed to providing a work environment in which staffs feel that they are a valued member of the organisation, treated fairly and given recognition for their contribution to the company's success. We also aim to provide an environment that fosters good working relationships in accordance with the Access and Equity Policy.

DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd does not tolerate any form of discrimination, harassment, violence, victimisation or vilification and disciplinary action will be taken against any staff or client involved in such behaviour. From a staff perspective, this may include termination of employment and from a client perspective, removal from a training course.

Discrimination

Discrimination means treating a person less favourably than another because of a personal attribute that they may have. Under State and Federal equal opportunity laws, discrimination based on attributes is unlawful. The attributes that can initiate a discrimination claim include:

- Gender
- Age

- Race
- Religion
- Marital status
- Disability
- Colour
- Nationality
- Ethnicity
- National Origin

It is DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd policy to ensure that these attributes are discounted when employment or training decisions are made.

Harassment

Harassment is any behaviour, which is unwelcome, offends, humiliates or intimidates the person being harassed. The most common form of harassment is sexual harassment. Examples of sexual harassment include, but are not limited to:

- Unwanted touching
- Sexual innuendo
- Sexual propositions
- Nude pin-ups and posters
- Obscene telephone calls
- Wolf whistles

Workplace Harassment

- Will usually be repeated behaviour but can also consist of a single act.
- Has the effect of offending, humiliating or intimidating the person at whom it is directed? It makes the work environment unpleasant and sometimes even hostile. If a person is being harassed, then their ability to do their work is affected. They often become stressed and suffer health problems as a result.
- Can often be the result of behaviour, which is not intended to offend or harm, such as jokes or unwanted attention. The fact that harassment is not intended does not mean that it is not unlawful. The differences between people should be acknowledged and respected, never ridiculed.
- Can involve an abuse of power, for example a manager may harass a person whom they are supervising. Abuse of power can also happen when certain groups are in a minority in the workplace and are, therefore, in a vulnerable position, for example, women or people from non-English speaking backgrounds.

Types of Harassment

There are many types of harassment. These can range from direct forms such as abuse, threats, name-calling and sexual advances; to less direct forms such as the creation of a hostile work environment, but where no direct attacks are made on an individual.

Verbal Harassment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sexual comments, advances or propositions • Lewd jokes or innuendos • Racist comments or jokes • Spreading rumours • Comments or jokes about a person’s disability, pregnancy, sexuality, age religion etc. • Repeated questions about one’s personal life • Belittling someone’s work or contribution in a meeting • Threats, insults or abuse • Repeated unwelcome invitations • Offensive obscene language • Obscene telephone calls, unsolicited letters, faxes, emails
non-verbal harassment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Leering, e.g. staring at a woman’s breasts • Putting offensive material on notice boards, computer screen savers, emails etc. • Wolf whistling • Nude or pornographic posters • Displaying sexist or racist cartoons or literature • Demoting, failing to promote, or transferring someone because they refuse requests for sexual favours • Following someone home from work • Standing very close to someone or unnecessarily leaning over them • Mimicking someone with a disability • Practical jokes that are unwelcome • Ignoring someone, or being cold and distant with them • Crude hand or body gestures
Physical harassment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unwelcome physical contact such as kissing, hugging, pinching, patting, touching, and brushing up against a person • Indecent or sexual assault or attempted assault • Hitting, pushing, shoving, spitting, and throwing objects at a person • Unzipping a person’s attire

What to do - If you feel you are being Harassed

If you feel that you are being harassed, tell the person to stop, that their behaviour is unacceptable and that they must not do it again. It is important to say these things to the person harassing as they may interpret silence as some form of acceptance or consent. If, however, you are too frightened or embarrassed to say anything, this does not mean that your complaint will be treated any less seriously.

If the behaviour does not stop, or even if it does but you still wish to report it, tell your manager. It is a good idea to make a written note of any harassment, including details of dates, times, witnesses, what happened and what you said or felt. Be frank and honest with whoever is appointed to investigate your complaint, as this will enable the appropriate action to be taken.

What DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd will do

It is DTW Designs (Qld) Pty Ltd legal responsibility to ensure that harassment does not happen in the workplace. If it does occur, the company will take complaints of harassment very seriously. The complaint will be investigated in a sympathetic, fair and confidential manner. Action will be taken to ensure that the harassment stops. Appropriate warning or disciplinary action will be taken where harassment is found to have occurred.

You will not be victimised or treated unfairly for making a harassment complaint.

Vocational Education & Training

Introduction

This Section provides you with an explanation of the VET sector and environment, the VET Quality Framework and key regulatory components and requirements. Included is a brief description of competency-based training and assessment along with other issues relevant to Training in vocational education and training in Australia.

Vocational Education and Training (VET)

Vocational education and training (VET) is ‘education and training for work’. It exists to develop and recognise the competencies or skills of learners for a workplace environment.

Competency-Based Training Assessment (CBTA) – VET includes a competency-based approach to training and assessment and recognition of skills and knowledge required to work effectively. CBTA teaches and assessors individuals against industry benchmarks (units of competency or modules) collecting evidence and making judgements on whether competency has been achieved. The purpose of assessment is to confirm that an individual can perform to these standards expected in the workplace.

In many cases, CBTA forms part of a pathway to employment, to a structured learning program or to further training. It is important that it happens within a context of work performance and learning and that skill gaps identified during the process are opportunities for further development, not failure. It is also important that evidence collected is viewed as a process negotiated with the candidate, not a one-off test of knowledge that has been imposed on the candidate.

Providers of learning and assessment services in VET are registered and regularly audited for service quality – training providers are known as Registered Training Organisations “RTOs”. RTOs issue nationally recognised qualifications.

Training packages provide the central system or ‘architecture’ of VET. Training Packages are a set of nationally endorsed standards and qualifications for recognising and assessing people’s skills. A training package describes the skills and knowledge needed to perform effectively in the workplace. It does not describe how an individual should be trained.

In industrial areas where Training Packages do not exist, or where corporations have specific needs, Accredited Courses are used. Accredited courses are similar in nature to Training Packages however use modules instead of units of competency.

Industry-led system – Vocational Education and Training in Australia is an industry-led system, administered by Government policy through Department of Education and Training <https://education.gov.au/> and the development of industry-recognised training packages by representative bodies – known as Industry Skills Councils.

Commonwealth, State and Territory governments – a national Agreement brings together Commonwealth, State and Territory governments to provide the policy and regulatory frameworks for the VET system. State/Territory Governments implement the VET Quality Framework (which includes Training Packages, the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) and the Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015 (SRTOs 2015) through one (1) National and two (2) State Regulatory Authorities, to ensure consistency, quality and national recognition of provider services.

VET Regulators

There are three (3) VET Regulators in Australia; ASQA, TAC and VRQA.

Department of Education & Training (DET)

The Department of Education and Training (DET) is a Commonwealth statutory authority which administers and provides a national focus for vocational education and training (VET) in Australia.

Newly formed in December 2014, its mission is to ensure that the skills of the Australian labour force are sufficient to support internationally competitive commerce and industry and to provide individuals with opportunities to optimise their potential.

Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA)

The Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA) is the national regulator for Australia's vocational education and training sector. ASQA regulates courses and training providers to ensure nationally approved quality standards are met.

As the national regulator for the vocational education and training (VET) sector, the Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA) seeks to make sure that the sector's quality is maintained through the effective regulation of providers and accredited courses.

ASQA regulates according to a risk assessment model—meaning that the Authority applies proportionate regulatory intervention based on risk assessment. 'Proportionate' intervention means that regulatory focus is concentrated on providers of concern (those that are not delivering quality training outcomes). Similarly, regulatory interventions are minimised for providers that consistently deliver high-quality training outcomes.

This model:

- ensures risks to quality vocational education are well managed
- employs a strong compliance auditing and monitoring regime and a range of escalating sanctions, and
- recognises the need for innovation and flexibility in VET.
- ASQA's approach to regulating the sector:
- is risk-based, and
- ensures training meets the needs of the industry.

The ASQA website is: <http://www.asqa.gov.au>

Training Accreditation Council (TAC)

The Training Accreditation Council (TAC) is Western Australian's State Regulatory Authority and is responsible for assuring the quality of vocational education and training in Western Australia.

The Training Accreditation Council is committed to:

- Being the national leader for recognition of quality assurance of training, including associated policies, services and standards in the vocational sector; and
- Providing practical, efficient and responsive support to government, the State Training Board, industry, training providers and the community.

TAC's role is to provide for:

- The registration of training providers;
- The accreditation of courses;
- The recognition of skills qualifications;
- Provide policy advice to the State Training Board on recognition arrangements; and
- Audit registered training organisations against the SRTOS 2015 ensuring the implementation of quality training services in WA.

The TAC Website is: <http://www.tac.wa.gov.au>

Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority (VRQA)

The Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority (VRQA) is the statutory authority responsible for ensuring that employers of apprentices and trainees and providers of education and training (including course and qualification owners) meet quality standards, and that information is readily available to support informed choice in education and training.

The VRQA:

- registers certain education and training providers and awarding bodies
- registers certain qualifications and accredits courses
- registers children for home schooling in Victoria

- regulates apprenticeships and traineeships in Victoria.

The VRQA Board is supported by an office that is placed within the Department of Education and Training.

The VRQA registers providers of:

- Vocational Education and Training (VET) that deliver accredited training to domestic students in Victoria only, or Victoria and Western Australia only
- school education
- senior secondary education – both school and non-school providers
- overseas secondary student exchange organisations.

The VRQA does not regulate education and training providers in Victoria that deliver:

- to international students (other than those enrolled in schools or undertaking school sector courses) in Victoria
- VET courses outside Victoria, including VET delivered online or by distance education
- English Language Intensive Courses for Overseas Students (ELICOS) and Foundation Studies courses (other than courses delivered by schools).

The VRQA Website is: <http://www.vrqa.vic.gov.au/Pages/default.aspx>

Registered Training Organisations (RT)

An RTO is any training organisation registered by the relevant VET Regulator to provide nationally recognised vocational education and training (VET) and assessment services, within a defined “scope of registration”, and in accordance with the VET Quality Framework.

The significance of being recognised as an RTO means that Company Name must operate in accordance with the national principles, standards and protocols that make up the VET Quality Framework and specifically the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (SRTOS 2015).

As a Registered Training Organisation (RTO), Company Name provides quality Training and Assessment services in accordance with industry Training Packages and Accredited courses. RTO certifications are recognised by all other RTO’s; giving clients greater mobility and confidence that their skills will be recognised and valued.

VET Quality Framework

The VET Quality Framework is a set of standards and conditions that the VET Regulators use to assess whether an RTO meets the requirements for registration.

The VET Quality Framework comprises –

- the Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015
- the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF)

- the Financial Viability Risk Assessment Requirements 2011
- the Data Provision Requirements 2012
- Training Packages

Under the SRTOS 2015, training organisations must be registered to deliver, assess and issue Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) qualifications or Statements of Attainment for endorsed Training Packages and accredited courses.

Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF)

The Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) is the policy framework that defines all qualifications recognised nationally in post-compulsory education and training within Australia. Introduced Australia-wide on 1st January 1995, it identifies twelve national qualifications across schools, the vocational education and training sector (TAFE's and private providers) and the higher education sector (mainly universities). These are;

Schools Sector	Vocational Education and Training Sector	Higher Education Sector
Senior School Certificate of Education	Voc Grad Diploma Voc Grad Certificate Advanced Diploma Diploma Certificate IV Certificate III Certificate II Certificate I	Doctoral Degree Master's Degree Graduate Diploma Graduate Certificate Bachelor Degree Advanced Diploma Diploma

The AQF helps all learners, employers and education and training providers to participate and navigate the qualifications system. The framework assists learners to plan their career progression; at whatever stage, they are within their lives and when they are moving interstate and overseas.

The AQF Website is: www.agf.edu.au

Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015 (SRTOS 2015)

New regulatory standards for training providers and regulators came into effect on the 1 January 2015 which mark an important step towards improving the quality of Australia's training system.

These standards are designed to:

- set out the requirements that an organisation must meet to be an RTO
- ensure that training products delivered by RTOs meet the requirements of training packages or VET accredited courses, and have integrity for employment and further study
- ensure RTOs operate ethically with due consideration of learners' and enterprises' needs.
- These standards are designed to ensure:
 - the integrity of nationally recognised training by regulating RTOs and VET accredited courses using a risk-based approach that is consistent, effective, proportional, responsive and transparent
 - consistency in the VET regulator's implementation and interpretation of the RTO Standards and Standards for VET Accredited Courses
 - the accountability and transparency of the VET regulator in undertaking its regulatory functions.

Training organisations must be registered as an RTO to issue nationally recognised AQF qualifications or Statements of Attainment in the vocational education and training sector and deliver the associated training and assessment. RTOs must meet all the standards of the SRTOS 2015 to maintain registration as an RTO.

Components of SRTOS 2015

The SRTOS 2015 quality standards contain four (4) 'Parts' and six (6) Schedules, all of which form part of the legislative instrument and are therefore auditable.

A brief outline of these follows. All staff/contractors must read and understand the full SRTOS 2015 Standards.

Part 1 – Preliminary

The Preliminary contains the purpose, structure and glossary. The glossary forms part of the legislative instrument and is therefore auditable.

Part 2 – Training & Assessment

Part 2 contains three (3) standards, each with sub-clauses, and identify quality practice about Training and Assessment. These include:

1. The RTOs training and assessment strategies and practices are responsive to industry and learner needs and meet the requirements of training packages and VET accredited courses.

2. The operations of the RTO are quality assured.
3. The RTO issues, maintains and accepts AQF certification documentation in accordance with these Standards and provides access to learner records.

Part 3 – Obligations to Learners

Part 3 contains three (3) three standards, each with sub-clauses, and identify quality practice regarding obligations to learners. These include:

1. Accurate and accessible information about an RTO. Its services and performance are available to inform prospective and current learners and clients.
2. Each learner is properly informed and protected.
3. Complaints and appeals are recorded, acknowledged and dealt with fairly, efficiently and effectively.

Part 4 – RTO governance and administration

Part 4 contains two (2) three standards, each with sub-clauses, and identify quality practice regarding RTO governance and administration. These include:

1. The RTO has effective governance and administration arrangements in place.
2. The RTO cooperates with the VET Regulator and is legally compliant always.

For further information regarding the Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015, see www.comlaw.gov.au/Details/F2014L01377

Training Packages & Accredited Courses

Training Packages are a key feature of vocational education and training in Australia. They are part of the National Training Framework that aims to make training and regulatory arrangements simple, flexible and relevant to the needs of the industry.

Training Packages:

- Are developed by industry for industry
- Encourage training in the workplace
- Provide for multiple pathways to competency

Training Packages are an integrated set of nationally endorsed standards, guidelines and qualifications for training, assessing and recognising people's skills.

Training Packages are developed by industry through national Industry Skills Councils (ISC's), Recognised Bodies or by enterprises to meet the identified training needs of specific industries or industry sectors. To gain national endorsement, developers must provide evidence of extensive consultation and support within the industry area of enterprise.

Training Packages complete a quality assurance process and are then endorsed and placed on the National Register (www.training.gov.au).

Training.gov.au is the official National Register on VET in Australia and is the authoritative source of information on training packages, qualifications, accredited courses, units of competency, skill sets and Registered Training Organisations.

The structure of the Training Packages is consistent. There are five (5) components of Training Packages:

Units of Competency

Units of Competency provide an industry benchmark for training and assessment. They specify the scope of knowledge, skills and level of performance required for activities within the workplace. Units of Competency form the largest component of a training package and are constructed in a consistent manner.

A unit of competency comprises the following:

- Unit Code and Title. This is a national code and title of the unit.
- Application. Provides information and summary regarding the unit, briefly describing how the unit is practically applied in the industry and in what contexts the unit may be applied.
- Pre-Requisite Units. A list of any unit(s) in which the candidate must be deemed competent prior to the determination of competency in this unit.
- Elements. Describes key tasks or activities of work covered in the unit.
- Performance Criteria. Specifies the required level of performance in terms of a set of outcomes expected against each element for a person to be deemed competent.
- Foundation Skills. Describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance.
- Range of Conditions. Specifies different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.
- Unit Mapping. Specifies code and title of any equivalent unit of competency.
